GENERAL INFORMATION

ROMANIAN REPORTS IN PHYSICS (ROM. REP. PHYS.) is a publication of the Romanian Academy. The journal was first published in 1992, as a continuation of the former STUDII SI CERCETARI DE FIZICA (established 1955). Rom. Rep. Phys. publishes physics contributions in both theoretical and experimental physics. Regular contributions include review or tutorial papers containing either significant results of an extensive research work or relevant developments in top domains of physics, original and unpublished work of general interest, short research notes. The journal may also publish conference papers or proceedings. Recent books may be presented and reviewed. No page charge is requested except for proceedings volumes published by conference organizers.

The recommended language is English, but French is also accepted.

All papers are subjected to anonymous refereeing after which the main/corresponding author will be informed.

Correspondence with the editorial office via electronic mail is encouraged. General inquires can be addressed to: romrepphys@nipne.ro, moancea_rrp@yahoo.com.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

Please, make sure that the contribution you are intending to submit for publication in “ROMANIAN REPORTS IN PHYSICS” contains the followings:

1. one camera-ready electronic copy (with figures, captions of figures, tables, etc., included in the text) for the referees: The electronic copy must be in PDF^{*} format and should be attached to the submission e-mail. Please ensure that the PDF file is correctly generated (fonts and figures are properly embedded) to allow displaying and printing on a remote machine!
2. the document source(s) (DOC/TEX and all other associated files – figures, bibliographic databases, etc.) in an archive attached to the submission email: The Editorial Office recommends the document templates available for MS Word and LaTeX on the web site of the journal. Beware that Word documents in MS Word 2007 and later format are not accepted! To prevent data corruption during transfer, the source file(s) should be archived and compressed using ZIP format (please ensure that the compression program doesn't use a special derivation of the ZIP algorithm; if in doubt, ask a friend/co-worker to uncompress the archive with main-stream compression software before sending it).

If your manuscript is accepted for publication, the editor will ask for an acknowledgement of authorship from each co-author as well as a statement transferring the copyright of the manuscript to the Journal. The copyright transfer form is available on the journal web site and should be downloaded, printed, signed by each author, scanned as PDF and then send by e-mail to the editorial office in order to complete the submission process. Please do not send the filled transfer of copyright form before being informed that your paper is accepted for publication! Also, please be advised that failure to provide a correctly filled-in transfer of copyright form, when asked to do so, leads to publication delays.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

GENERAL CONDITIONS

- The scientific contributions must be submitted in electronic form and typeset in MS Word (versions 1997 to 2003) or LaTeX (whichever software you know to operate better) according to the guidelines presented below (always using the latest version of the templates provided on the journal web site!).
- We urge you to check the document with TOOLS/SPELLING using US-English dictionary before submitting.
- The whole Word document must be a single file, including text, figures, figure captions, tables and table captions, references, acknowledgments, etc., at their appropriate positions. The LaTeX documents must use only publicly available packages (like the ones found on CTAN.org) and they must be accompanied by all the needed external files (figures, bibliographic databases and so on) to ensure “compilation” on any major LaTeX distribution (MikTeX, TexLive, etc.). The main text/body of the LaTeX documents must be contained in a single file. Please refrain yourself from using too many command definitions in the preamble of your LaTeX contributions!
- Scanned papers (text, figures, etc.) are not accepted!!!

^{*} PDF is an acronym for Portable Document Format, an open source encapsulating format developed by Adobe.

The first-order headings shall be written in TIMES NEW ROMAN, 9pt, ALL CAPS, BOLD, CENTERED, preceded by 24pt and followed by 12pt vertical space. Should headings of first, second, third or fourth order follow each other immediately, suppress the vertical space below the lower order heading - 12pt, 12pt, 6pt or 4pt, respectively. The text after headings shall start with a 0.9 cm indentation.

- Insert the figures at their appropriate position within the paper using INSERT→PICTURE FROM FILE menu items in MSWord or `\includegraphics` command in LaTeX. Figures must not be larger than an A4 page each. For scanned figures, the resolution shall be set at minimum 300 DPI. Color figures are not accepted. Figures shall be listed in numerical order, bottom numbered and CENTERED on the page. Figure numbers shall be preceded by 6pt vertical space and written using TIMES NEW ROMAN, 9pt, CENTERED (e.g. 'Fig. [no.] - ') followed by the caption text written using the same font size and horizontal alignment. After the figure caption introduce 12pt vertical space. Figure captions and numbers shall not be incorporated in the figure (MSWord only). In LaTeX use the `\caption` command inside the figure floating environment. Measure units shall be mentioned in brackets (e.g. $\langle m^2 \rangle$ or $[cm^{-3}]$) and expressed in SI or other widely spread unit system according to requirements.

- Tables shall also be introduced at their appropriate place in the text. The table number shall be written above the table body using TIMES NEW ROMAN, 9pt, ITALIC, CENTERED, preceded by 12pt and followed by 6pt vertical space. Please respect the rule of writing the variables in ITALIC, especially for equations written in text mode. The equations shall be preceded and followed by 6pt vertical space. Displayed equations shall be CENTERED and numbered with Arabic figures in parentheses (e.g. '(1)'), FLUSH RIGHT written using TIMES NEW ROMAN, 11pt.
